STAMPING DOWN ON OUR CARBON FOOTPRINT

We don't just talk about global warming at Logica in the UK – we do something about it. We don't go in for greenwash hype either – we act. In 2006, we launched an internal Stamp Down Our Carbon Footprint campaign. In 2009, our British carbon footprint was down by 23 per cent, making us a green leader in the IT and business services sectors

KEY BENEFITS

- Significant employee involvement to reduce carbon emissions by 23 per cent over three years
- £10 million saved over two years with a 5:1 return on investment
- Leadership role for Logica in the IT and business services sectors
- A broad range of customer services to change organisations in a low carbon economy

THE CHALLENGE

When we began our campaign, Logica's UK carbon footprint was 37,769 tons of CO2 equivalent. We believed we had an opportunity not only to cut our energy costs but also to reduce the demands we were making on the environment and encourage our staff to be more aware of climate change and its consequences. We called it our "Respect for the Environment Programme."

OUR APPROACH

We needed our staff to buy into the programme, so communications – and our Stamp Down intranet – were vital. It gives advice on alternatives to travel and reports monthly energy consumption by building and different types of travel.

We organised green roadshows and experts from the Met Office and the UK's Climate Impact Programme – funded largely by the government – led web-based seminars on climate change. Our employees around the world took part without ever having to go near an airport. Video conferencing replaced travel, our recycling methods were improved, cost-free cooling technology was installed in our data centres and our IT systems were made much more efficient energy-wise

RESULTS

The results have been outstanding:

- Electricity use down by 13 per cent
- Office waste to landfill down 64 per cent
- Business air travel cut 49 per cent
- Car journeys down 26 per cent
- Paper use reduced 34 per cent, compared to 2007
- Water consumption cut 36 per cent

The programme continues, with initiatives including property rationalisation, flexible working and more energy saving measures.

Acting responsibly as a business is not an optional extra. It is the starting point for everything we do.

What we can do for you

The UK Government Climate Change Committee has identified energy efficiency as particularly important for reducing emissions before 2020. The focus is on both behaviour-change and technology fixes to achieve an 80 per cent reduction in CO2 equivalents by 2050.

We're on their side – and yours, so you can thrive in a low carbon economy. Our services include:

- Sustainability reporting
- Wind farm management control systems
- Smart metering
- Electronic invoicing, which can help reduce carbon footprints by 75 per cent
- Energy efficiency platforms
- Sustainability consultancy

GREEN CREDENTIALS

We are a UK signatory to the UN Global Compact and we're listed on the FTSE4 Good Index.
